

"Engineering: The Good, The Bad, The Ugly"

The Ohio Local Section of TAPPI and the Miami University Student Chapter of TAPPI are hosting a joint meeting in Oxford, Ohio. The meeting is entitled, "Engineering: The Good, The Bad, The Ugly". The focus of the meeting will be engineering and managing change in this, an ever changing world. The keynote speaker will be Mr. Kinstrey of Jacobs.

Mr. Kinstrey has 37 years of consulting, operating and technical experience in the manufacture of pulp and paper. He has led and/or participated in over 95 domestic and international studies and has experience in process improvements; new equipment installation and startup, production, and implementation of cost cutting measures. He has been an active participant and leader in TAPPI and PIMA. His background combines practical experience with formalized education in engineering and management sciences.

With Jacobs, Mr. Kinstrey is the Director of Process Technology managing pulp and paper business optimization activities. As a working manager he provides leadership in process design, development of scope and estimates for major rebuilds, strategic and due diligence studies, and performs process optimization studies. He has been involved in optimizing production and reducing operating costs at multiple mills.

Chairman's Corner

For our February meeting, the Ohio Local Section of TAPPI is once again teaming up with the Miami University Student Chapter of TAPPI. This is a rather unique and timely opportunity. Not only will members of the industry be able to interact with those that are our industries future, but the topic itself is one that we have all been wrestling with. Students, university faculty and industry members, alike. I am sure that there will be many lively discussions that will carry on into the social event. I would like to thank to both Bill and Dick Dowd for their fine efforts in putting together this excellent program.

In closing, I would encourage anyone who has an interest in becoming more involved the Ohio Local Section of TAPPI to feel free to call me or to contact me by e-mail.
